

THE MAN WITH THE BANDAGE.

LONDON MAN BLINDED BY PIMPLES.

Mr. Arthur Harper, St. John's, S.E.

Hospital Doctors Said Fiery Skin-Torture
Could Not be Cured Under 2 Years.

DISEASE COMPLETELY BANISHED.
REPLACED BY HEALTHY NEW SKIN.

MR. ARTHUR HARPER, of 56, Brookmill Road, St. John's, London, S.E., is never likely to forget his terrible experience with skin-eruptions, nor his wonderfully quick cure by Zam-Buk after doctors had said "No cure under two years." Now happy, with a perfectly healthy skin, Mr. Harper said to a London pressman:—

"While working in a warehouse, I began to be troubled with inflamed pimples on my face and chest. The pimples itched fearfully, and clustered together in thick bunches. I got so unsightly that I was not allowed to see customers or go into company. I was, in fact, treated almost as an outcast. Loss of sleep through the constant burning and itching made me quite ill, and at last I had to give up work altogether. My face was now a mass of closely packed inflamed pimples. They caked over my eyes, closing one altogether for ten weeks.

"I realized that ordinary ointments were no good for a severe case like mine. So I went to the doctors, who told me that no treatment could possibly cure me under two years. Then I went to the Stamford Street Skin Hospital, London, and Guy's Hospital. At both places the private doctors' opinion that I couldn't get cured in less than two years was confirmed.

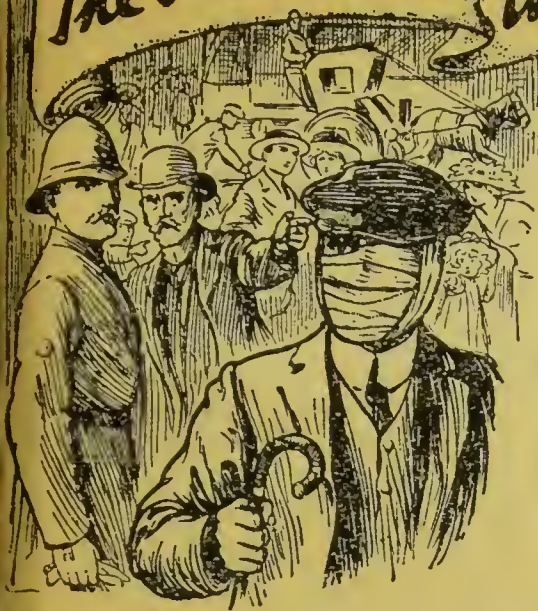

"I wasn't satisfied, however, and as I had been hearing a lot about Zam-Buk, I decided to try this new balm. Zam-Buk soon cooled my inflamed skin, and began to draw out all the bad matter, causing the pimples to shrivel up and die away. It was evident there was good cause for the splendid reports I had heard of Zam-Buk. There were, of course, huge batches of the hard eruptions to clear away, but Zam-Buk worked steadily through the thick masses, drawing out all poison and corruption.

"Perseverance with Zam-Buk changed the repulsive appearance of my face and chest so wonderfully that in a short time all the eruptions had disappeared, and given place to new healthy skin."

The Man with the Bandage

WONDERFUL ZAM-BUK HEALING CREATES A SENSATION.

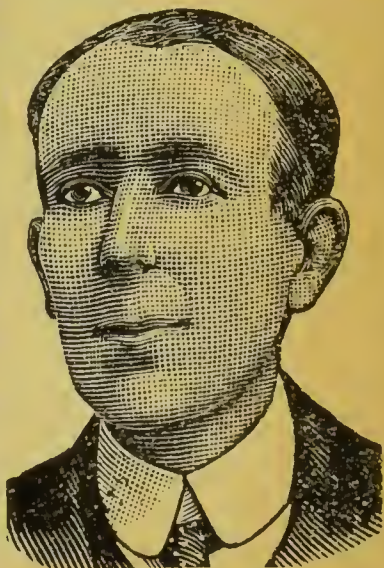

Terrible Skin Disease Started with a Rash—Face Looked like a Butcher's Shop—In Bandages for 2 Years—Five Painful Operations in Vain—Then came Zam-Buk, and The Marvellous Growth by Zam-Buk of New Healthy Skin—Doctors, Clergymen, and Councillors Astonished by His Cure.

SENSATIONAL proof of the unparalleled healing powers of Zam-Buk is furnished by the case of Mr. Ernest Earnshaw, who resides at Rose Cottage, Clifton, near Conisboro', Yorks. Mr. Earnshaw's personal statement, supported by the sworn endorsement of a prominent Conisboro' Councillor, shows that Zam-Buk is the one preparation that will overcome the most obstinate case of skin-disease and running sores.

A few months ago Mr. Earnshaw's face was so ravaged by disease that he was not fit to be seen. Hospital doctors did all they could for him, both by operating and other treatments, but for two years his face was encased in surgical bandages, only his right eye being visible. He dreaded meeting friends, neighbours, or strangers; children, when they met him, screamed and ran away in fright. To-day, thanks to Zam-Buk, the ugly sores are replaced with nice healthy skin, and after 27 months of enforced idleness Mr. Earnshaw is fit for work again.

Describing how Zam-Buk effected this wonderful transformation Mr. Earnshaw, who is a Nottingham born man, and served seven years in the 28th Gloucester Regiment, said to a reporter:—

"In the summer of 1909 a rash appeared on my cheek—a kind of blotch that scaled. As the skin kept peeling I saw a doctor. I persevered with his treatment, but it became evident that I had some serious skin trouble. My face got in a dreadful state—friends told me it looked like a butcher's shop, and made them sick to see. Of course, I didn't go about with the raw sores exposed; my face was covered with bandages, and the only part visible was my right eye. I was quite blind in the left eye. Everybody in the district knew me as 'the man with the bandage'

"Once, while Doncaster Races were on, when on my way to Conisboro' station, I was stopped by the Police, who were led to believe by my strange appearance, with my head and face lost in bandages, that I was a bookmaker's 'runner' trying to get on to the Race-course by making myself look like a freak. I was finally marched to the Police Station, and only allowed to depart after being identified by a local officer. I have walked many a mile in such pain that I couldn't remember where I had been. I was often afraid I should go 'raving mad.'

"I always carried a special medical drinking-glass about with me, as I couldn't drink from an ordinary tumbler because of the terrible state of my lips. Food, too, I had to push between my teeth with my finger, or a skewer, and chew it the best way I could with my tongue and the roof of my mouth.

"I got weaker and thinner, until my clothes hung about me like big sacks. I could tell by the way friends spoke and looked at me that they thought I should never get better. When the Doncaster Royal Infirmary surgeons said that a further operation would be necessary, and that I might have to have my nose cut off next, I felt I positively couldn't stand any further cutting. I had already undergone five operations, including X-Rays treatment.

"I was a month in the Doncaster Infirmary, and afterwards attended as out-patient from April 12th, 1910, to the end of the year. In trying to cure me the surgeon had cut, laid back, and scraped my lip, cheeks, and chin, so that you can imagine what an awful state my face was in.

"Councillor Moody, of Conisboro', used to take me in his trap to Doncaster Infirmary, leave me until I had been operated on and was fit to come out, and then take me home again. Often on the way home blood streamed out from the new wounds and dyed the bandages crimson.

"A sixth operation was advised by the Infirmary surgeons. So I went down to Doncaster one Friday morning. I actually got to the Infirmary, and then, feeling so terribly weak, and being afraid I shouldn't survive a further operation,

MR. E. EARNSHAW'S SOLEMN DECLARATION.

"I, Ernest Earnshaw, living at Rose Cottage, Clifton, near Conisborough, Yorkshire, do Solemnly and Sincerely Declare as follows:—

"For two years and eight months I suffered from a dreadful skin disease. My face was so inflamed and full of eruptions that I had to let doctors cut most of the skin and flesh away, leaving me in a terrible state. Although I had nine months' Infirmary treatment, and underwent five operations, my distress was not ended.

"For twenty-seven months I couldn't do a stroke of work, and was never without a bandage over my face. I became known all round as 'the man with the bandage.'

"Owing to the terrible sores and the pain, I couldn't open my mouth to chew my food, which had to be pushed between my teeth with a skewer.

"A well-known local Councillor recommended me Zam-Buk, which I tried and found to ease the awful itching. Repeated dressings with Zam-Buk uprooted the disease and grew new healthy skin on my face.

"No one could believe it was me when at last I was able to throw off my bandages. I do Solemnly and Sincerely state that Zam-Buk alone cured me and gave me an entirely new and healthy skin.

"And I make this Solemn Declaration for the purpose of publication, conscientiously believing the same to be true, and by virtue of the Statutory Declarations Act, 1835."

I quietly left the place and returned home. The Infirmary surgeons had the operating table and all their instruments ready, and waited two hours for me.

"I went back to Conisboro', and told Councillor Moody. Seeing that I wasn't really fit for a further operation, Councillor Moody suggested that, as a last resort, I should try Zam-Buk, which he said he always kept about the place, and had reason to have great faith in. We both thought that if Zam-Buk would not cure me nothing else was likely to."

"So I did try Zam-Buk, more with the idea of getting to know the worst or best, and not really expecting relief. Mine was an unusually terrible case, and although everybody speaks highly of Zam-Buk about here, I had never heard of it being used for such an aggravated complaint as I was suffering from. Besides, Councillor Moody had been too good to me for me not to follow his advice now. So I left off the Infirmary treatment and started with Zam-Buk.

"You must remember that my face at this time was cut and hacked about frightfully, with pieces actually missing from cheeks, lip, and nose. Yet it was soon evident that Zam-Buk was doing good, for the sore places got less inflamed, and the proud flesh began to die away. What's more, with relief from the itching I got better sleep now, and began to feel brighter. My friends here helped me to get more Zam-Buk, for I had spent practically every penny I had long before this in other treatments.

Doncaster Infirmary, where Mr. Earnshaw was a patient for nearly 12 months and was operated on five times.

"Zam-Buk was evidently driving the disease out; at any rate, new healthy flesh formed on my face and filled up the big holes. I still wore the bandages, but people could tell by the cheerful way I went about that I was getting better, and I stopped time after time to explain how Zam-Buk alone was curing me. Well, the healing and tissue-growing went on steadily all over my face until I realised that I was nearly all right again; new healthy skin had grown over all the old sore places, and was getting firm and strong.

"So I decided to stay away from my friends for a few days to allow this new Zam-Buk-grown-skin to get accustomed to the fresh air. Then I walked into Conisboro' without any bandage on my face—the first time for over two years. Believe me, friends didn't recognise me, and I had to stop them before they could realise it was really Ernest Earnshaw—only with a new skin. My cur astonished doctors, clergymen, and friends from different places who knew wha a shocking mess my face had been in. They all marvelled at Zam-Buk' extraordinary cleansing and healing powers when I told them it was Zam-Bul alone that had cured me. I couldn't earn my own living for 27 months owing to my skin-illness, but, thanks to my miraculous cure by Zam-Buk, I am gettin' back my strength, and am fit for work again."

Both in Conisboro' and Doncaster the reporter made searching inquiries into the case, and on every hand received most convincing corroboration.

Whilst walking through the streets with Ernest Earnshaw the reporter actually witnessed meetings between Earnshaw and old friends, who failed to recognise him without his bandages.

Among others who testified to this remarkable Zam-Buk cure is Mr. Frank Allison, of the Station Hotel, Conisboro', who said to the reporter:—"I can vouch for Ernest Earnshaw's cure by Zam-Buk, which to me is simply marvellous. Nothing has caused so much talk about here for a long time as the way Zam-Buk cured him when practically everybody thought him a doomed man. At one time I expected daily to hear of his death, he was in such a shocking state. I am honestly convinced that Zam-Buk alone cured Earnshaw, for I saw him frequently during the time he was persevering with this balm. You can get confirmation of Earnshaw's story from practically all over this district. I have not the slightest objection to my name being mentioned in connection with this most remarkable case."

COUNCILLOR MOODY'S STATUTORY CONFIRMATION.

Councillor Moody, of Conisboro', who recommended Mr. Earnshaw to try Zam-Buk with such beneficial results.

"I, Councillor Arthur Moody, of 'The Alma, Conisboro', do Solemnly and Sincerely Declare as follows:—

"I have known Ernest Earnshaw for ten years and know him to be thoroughly respectable and honest. I knew him when he began to suffer from a terrible disfiguring disease about three years ago, and I myself drove him into Doncaster regularly to undergo treatment, which, however proved unsuccessful.

"It was I who then recommended Zam-Buk to him, having in my public position observed I had always justified the strong claims made for it. I helped Ernest Earnshaw to persevere with the Zam-Buk treatment, which, to my personal knowledge, has ended in his complete cure.

"I have heard Earnshaw spoken of as 'the man with the bandage,' and I know that, thanks to Zam-Buk, he is now entirely free from a deep-rooted disease that not only caused him painful disfigurement, but which also lost him his work.

"I have watched this Zam-Buk cure all the way through quite disinterestedly, and can testify to its remarkable character.

"The power of Zam-Buk has astonished me, and I make this Solemn Declaration for the purpose of publication, conscientiously believing the same to be true, and by virtue of the Statutory Declarations Act, 1835."

The Daily Peril of Skin Disease.

A SUCCESSFUL BALM WITH WONDERFUL PROPERTIES.

THE skin, when neglected, gets filled up with impurities which ought to be thrown off, but which, not being got rid of in a natural manner through the pores, either force their way out in a crop of pimples, or give rise to other disagreeable complaints. The usual symptoms of skin disease, whether itching on the body, irritation on the scalp, or soreness round the joints, should be promptly attended to, lest they prove the beginning of eezema, ulcers, ringworm, or worse trouble.

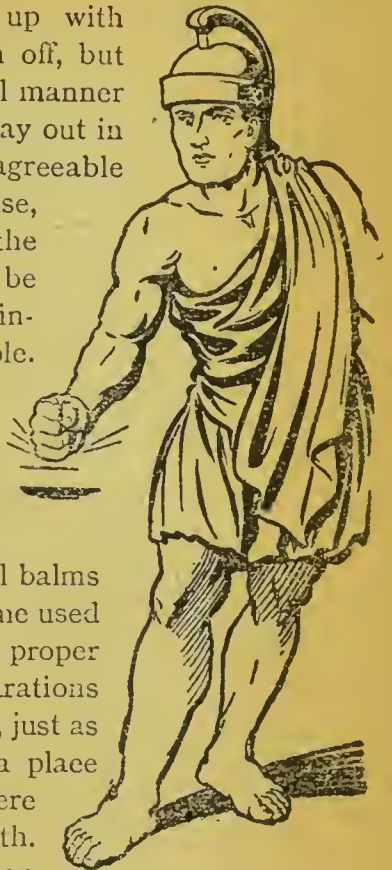

You cannot be too careful what you use upon your skin. The unsatisfactory results from the old-fashioned ointments show that some different way of treating the skin is urgently needed. Accordingly, investigations have been made on the lines of the rare herbal balms with which the noble Gladiators of Ancient Rome used to heal their nasty cuts, and to keep their skin in proper condition. The secret of these wonderful preparations was lost centuries ago, but they taught us that, just as Nature has given to man the instinct to rub a place when it hurts, so Nature has supplied somewhere amongst her herbs the right substances to rub with.

Careful research led at length to the production of a complex and wonderful balm called Zam-Buk, which has virtually created anew the ancient art of skin-healing. The juices and saps of certain valuable herbs were taken for the manufacture of this precious balm, and the result ultimately was to produce a secret combination endowed with healing, soothing, and antiseptic properties of a unique order.

Indeed, this balm is so unique in character that it can only be produced in the Zam-Buk Company's own laboratories by their skilled chemists, with the aid of elaborate apparatus; and many scientific processes are necessary to obtain the right blending of the healing extracts.

Extreme care has also to be taken to develop to the highest point the wonderful curative power peculiar to Zam-Buk, and to ensure the balm retaining its proper standard of strength and wholesomeness for any length of time. It usually takes three months for each box of Zam-Buk to pass from its first to its final stage of production.

It will thus be seen how totally different Zam-Buk is from mere ointments. Not only is it different from them in composition and the scientific method of its manufacture, but it is immeasurably superior to them in action and effect. Zam-Buk contains no trace of lard or rancid animal fat, or any lead, zinc, or other mineral poison. Its herba composition is so complex as to render the identification of its ingredient by analysis a sheer impossibility; and doctors, purely from their own success with Zam-Buk, often recommend it to their patients.

In view of the absolutely unique character of Zam-Buk it is no surprising that it has to its credit the cure of many thousands of cases of eczema, ulcers, bad legs, blind and bleeding piles, children's scalp sores, ringworm, chapped hands, festering sores, and poisoned wounds.

There is nothing like Zam-Buk—nothing so uniquely curative, and nothing that gives such splendid results in so short a time, and for the same small outlay.

N.B.—Because of the foregoing important distinctions and to protect the public against the fraud of something else cheaper and falsely pretending to be the same, it is to be expressly noticed that Zam-Buk can only be obtained through chemists and drug stores and is sold only in the familiar green enamelled box, with a green printed package, sealed by the specially-printed Government Stamp, which must be found still unbroken when buying.

SHE COULDN'T BEND HER KNEE.

Accident when Dusting caused 7 Years' Terrible Leg Suffering.

MRS. J. SPELLER, a laundress, of Sandhills, Wethersfield, Essex, says:—"While dusting a chair, I slipped and ricked my right knee, which swelled and got inflamed. Soon the skin broke, and ulcers formed until my knee was practically surrounded by them. Large quantities of matter came away, the skin and flesh being eaten through. The slightest movement gave me great pain.

"Besides my housework I had to give up my laundry work as well. Finding cheap ointments and salves no good, for a year I was under doctor's treatment, and underwent eight operations. Despite the doctor's careful attention, however, my knee got no better.

"At last the doctor said he couldn't do any more; I should have to go to hospital. I dreaded this, however. One day I picked up a Zam-Buk 'Green Book,' and I felt if anything could heal my leg Zam-Buk would.

"Zam-Buk drew out the inflammation and soreness, cleansed the ulcers, stopped the festering, and dried up the discharge. By careful perseverance with this wonderful Zam-Buk the big holes gradually filled up, new healthy skin grew over them, and there at last, to my great joy, was my leg strong and well again. For nearly seven years I was unable to bend my knee; now, thanks entirely to Zam-Buk, I can walk about and do my work comfortably again."

"ON FIRE" WITH ITCHY ECZEMA.

Eyes Nearly Closed Up, Arms Useless.—Her Hair Fell Off in Handfuls.

Zam-Buk Ends Awful Torture.

Mrs. Sladen, Middleton.

A GRAPHIC description of the awful torture to which eczema subjects its victims was given by Mrs. G. M. Sladen when telling a reporter of her wonderful cure by Zam-Buk. Mrs. Sladen, who has lived a long time at 31, Boarshaw Road, Middleton, near Manchester, said:—

"My skin first got very itchy, and little hard lumps came under the top skin. The more I rubbed the worse my skin got. My arms, face, neck, and ears were the most troublesome. When I went near the fire the heat seemed to strike right into my skin, setting up almost unbearable itching and burning. After washing myself the softest towel felt like rough sandpaper to my tender skin. My arms and hands swelled so badly, from finger-tips to shoulders, that I couldn't use them, and had to get a girl in to do my housework. My face, too, puffed up until my eyes were almost closed. Inside and all round my ears the itching pimples spread, making my skin fairly tingle. My hair came off in big patches at the back of my head."

Going to a cupboard, Mrs. Sladen took from a box two big handfuls of hair, which she keeps as a memento of her strange experience.

"My nights were one long restless torture," she continued. "I simply couldn't sleep with my skin 'on fire' with this awful itching. The doctor told me I had dry itching eczema, but neither his remedies nor the many cheap ointments and lotions I used did any good, and after three years' incessant torment I got depressed and very miserable.

"One day a friend asked me if I'd ever tried Zam-Buk. I said I hadn't, but after what he told me about this new balm I got a box at once. I shall never forget the wonderful way Zam-Buk soothed my burning skin. It stopped the stinging and itching as nothing else had ever done. Zam-Buk also took down the swelling and inflammation, and regular dressings with the balm reduced the hard pimples under my skin until I couldn't feel them at all.

"When these pimples disappeared my skin looked and felt quite healthy again. I then realised that Zam-Buk had cured me completely of this punishing eczema. It was really wonderful to think that I was once again free from pain and disfigurement, and I'm sure that nothing but Zam-Buk could have worked such a marvellous cure."

HAIR RUINED BY SCALY SCURF.—"Patches of scurfy scabs came on Nellie's scalp," says Mrs. E. Singer, 7, Dalling Road, Hammersmith, W. "All Nellie's beautiful hair had to be cut short, and for two years she missed school. Doctors failed to cure the child, but Zam-Buk killed the itchy disease, and removed every scrap of scab and sore."

GRAZED HIS KNEE.—Mrs. D. W. Jones, 10, Woodland Street, Cwmbran, near Newport, S. Wales, writes:—"My five-year-old son, Willie, fell down in the schoolyard and grazed his knee, which festered. Zam-Buk soothed Willie's pain and quickly healed the sore place. Zam-Buk is quite different from all common ointments."

CRACKED FINGERS & BLOOD-POISON.

MISS MAGGIE TROUGHTON, 14, Union Street, Grantham, writes :—
“My hands were always hard and rough in winter, and used to crack into deep, long sores. I got blood-poison three times through getting cold and dirt into the cracks. I was at home months, unable to use my hands, and in dreadful pain. Three fingers swelled to a great size, and went quite black. I had one finger lanced three times, and used to go every morning to the doctor to have the three fingers dressed. Besides this treatment, I used all kinds of cheap ointments and salves without any success.

“Another finger broke out this winter, and I dreaded the torment I should have to go through. My sister, however, persuaded me to try Zam-Buk, which astonished me. Besides soothing the throbbing and biting pain, Zam-Buk drew out the poison and healed the sores and cracks with beautiful new skin. Whereas other winters I had been off work for months, I now returned to my place with my hands quite better only a week after starting with Zam-Buk. I've never seen anything like Zam-Buk for soothing and healing.”

NOTHING SO RELIABLE AS ZAM-BUK FOR CUTS, BRUISES, CHAPS, & SORES.

ONE of the most familiar figures for many years on the pier at Southend-on-Sea was Mr. W. Lilley, the landing-master, who now lives at “The Haven,” Swann Lane, Wickford, Essex. It is the proud record of Mr. Lilley that during his career he has heroically rescued 20 people from drowning—meritorious conduct recognised by an illuminated address from the Southend Corporation and townsfolk. Zam-Buk, the well-known healing balm, has achieved another record, of which Mr. Lilley is no less proud and thankful, viz., in several times rescuing him from the perils of blood-poisoning through cuts, bruises, chaps, and salt-water sores incurred on the pier or in his own home. His story, as given to a London Press representative, shows what an indispensable boon Zam-Buk is.

“Naturally, in our heavy work,” confided Mr. Lilley, “my mates and I often met with injuries. Our hands, particularly, used to get sore from rope chafing, through the skin and flesh cracking in the wet and cold, and when scraping barnacles off the pier pillars. Bruises and cuts, too, we couldn't escape, and I can assure you that salt water in a cut makes the raw flesh smart very severely. The best friend we ever had for injuries and sores was Zam-Buk, which for years I always kept handy in my store-room. We had previously tried many ordinary ointments, but none proved so reliable and good as Zam-Buk.

“It was the usual thing for the men to come to my store when they hurt themselves, for they all knew that Zam-Buk would soothe their pain, draw out all dirt and poison, and heal the sore places quickly and cleanly. Our old Lifeboat Captain, ‘Fred,’ was a great Zam-Buk enthusiast. ‘There's nothing to equal it,’ he used to say, and he never used anything else for his wounds and sores.”

Mr. W. Lilley, Wickford, Essex.

36 YEARS' BAD LEG.

Marvellous Zam-Buk Healing Ends a London Nurse's Awful Torture.

Mrs. M. Lock, London, S.W.

ANOTHER sensational case of Zam-Buk's magic healing has come to light in London. Mrs. Matilda Lock, of 15, Vandon Street, Buckingham Gate, Westminster, S.W., has told a reporter how this famous balm rescued her from thirty-six years' leg torture.

"When in my teens," said Mrs. Lock, "I was a nurse in a London family. After being up very late one night with the children, I dropped asleep in a chair in front of the fire. I awoke with a tingling sensation in my left leg, which I found badly scorched. A few days later inflamed patches came out all over the lower part of the leg, which swelled very much. I was in such pain that I gave up my work and went home to Weston-super-Mare. When I reached home my stocking had to be cut from my leg. Under doctor's instructions I rested for several months, with my leg bandaged and propped up.

"When I returned to London again the leg broke out all over into sores. A doctor told me these ulcers were caused by the blood congealing in my veins. This time I was laid up over three months. When I did get about again the limb kept on troubling me, and, after being laid aside for four or five months at a time, I went to Westminster Hospital, where my leg was put in a plaster cast. This had no good effect, however, and various other treatments were tried with no better result. I attended the hospital on and off eleven years, and then gave up, thoroughly disheartened.

"During the last few years my leg was just one huge raw sore, and as thick near the ankle as round the calf. I hardly ever slept for the cruel pain, and I went very thin, as though all my substance was being drained down into the bad leg. How it would have ended I dread to think if my husband hadn't come home one day with a box of Zam-Buk. He had read about Mr. Barber's cure at Fulham, and knowing him, made enquiries.

"As a result I started to use Zam-Buk, though I couldn't believe then that anything could ever heal my awful leg. Zam-Buk, however, acted like magic! There's no other word can describe the marvellous way this balm soothed the terrible pain and enabled me to rest and sleep in comfort. As Zam-Buk drew out the corruption the swelling and inflammation went down, and the raw places began to heal up. We were all delighted with this wonderful balm. The ulcers, after drying up, were covered with new healthy skin. From knee to ankle the new skin grew, leaving no trace whatever of the ulcers. My leg is now firm and strong, and I get about comfortably again, after thirty-six years' awful torture. Zam-Buk has worked a truly marvellous cure."

SCALDED ARM.—Mrs. C. Gable, 40, Tufton Street, Westminster, London, S.W., writes:—"While cleaning the gas-stove, my sleeve caught a pan handle and spilled a lot of boiling water over my arm. Chemist's soothing oils didn't relieve my awful pain or heal the scalds, which tortured me for nearly a month, but Zam-Buk drew out all 'fire' and soreness, and healed my arm with beautiful new skin."

FELL OVER IRON BOX.—Mrs. Mary Calby, Enagh Beglieve, Bailieboro', Co. Cavan, writes:—"I grazed and poisoned my right leg by falling over an iron box. Despite doctor's remedies and many chemist's ointments, I was soon unable to move my leg at all. My sister advised me to try Zam-Buk, which I did, and it drew all the poison from my leg, and healed the sore place with new skin."

OVER 100 RINGWORMS !

Bedminster Child's Itchy Sores Removed by Zam-Buk.

DOCTOR & NURSE Confirm Wonderful Cure.

MOTHERS will be delighted to know that the most obstinate case of ringworm will yield to Zam-Buk. Little Edith Rose, the twelve-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Vear, 41, Gwilliam Street, Windmill Hill, Bedminster, Bristol, first complained of itching on her chest.

"I found some inflamed patches there," said Mrs. Vear to a Bristol reporter. "As these rashes increased, I took Edith to the doctor, who said she had caught ringworm. The school-nurse, instructed by the doctor, attended Edith, but, despite the most careful treatment, the ringworms spread all over her chest, shoulders, neck, and back. Her skin was so full of these inflamed, itching sores that she couldn't lie down in any position comfortably. We were up with her night and day, trying in vain to ease the torture.

"There must have been over a hundred ringworms on Edith's body, and we couldn't keep her from scratching. We were in despair until a Bristol friend told me how Zam-Buk had cured her little girl's ringworm. So we decided to try this Zam-Buk, though we realised it was putting it to a very severe test.

"A week with Zam-Buk, however, made an astonishing difference to Edith. She got wonderful relief from the tormenting itch, while the sores began to die away. Delighted, we persevered carefully with Zam-Buk, each day showing a marked improvement. This magic balm gradually but surely killed the disease-germs, and caused the ringworms to peel away, leaving in their place new healthy skin.

"When Edith was clear of the terrible disease I took her to the school-nurse, who was amazed at this wonderful Zam-Buk cure. The school-doctor, after careful examination, also verified the cure, and certified Edith thoroughly fit for school again. The child's skin to-day is as clear and healthy as possible, thanks alone to Zam-Buk."

Are You One of the 10,000,000 Mothers who to-day know from experience what a priceless boon a box of Zam-Buk is? If not, take advantage of our Free Offer announced on page 19, and convince yourself, by actual experiment, what are the real points of superiority about Zam-Buk. Zam-Buk is to-day world-famous for its great healing, soothing, and germ-destroying qualities, and it gives us for the first time an ever-ready antiseptic "first-aid" and skin-cure, uniting the three virtues of simplicity, effectiveness, and safety.

CHAPPED HANDS & COLD-SORES

SOOTHED & HEALED.

Zam-Buk Wards off Blood-Poison.

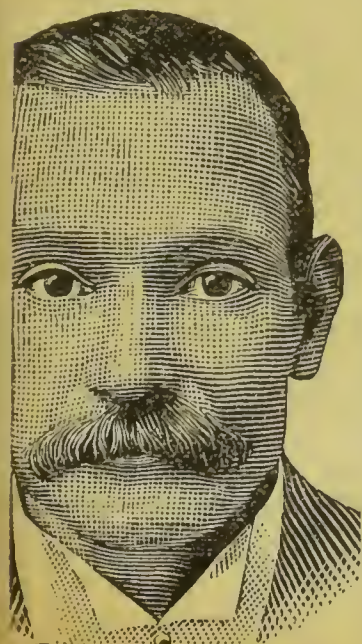

RAW, chapped hands are not only painful, but positively dangerous, because they provide an easy way for dirt and disease-germs to get into the blood and set up nasty festering, blood-poisoning, or skin disease. The hands and face, however, that are nightly rubbed over with Zam-Buk will never suffer from the bite of frost and cold winds, because Zam-Buk's pure herbal juices sink naturally into the tissues and keep the skin soft, healthy and flexible.

Even when the hands have swollen and burst into bleeding cracks a dressing of Zam-Buk will bring almost instant relief from the smarting pain, and at the same time defend the sores against the attack of disease-germs. Repeated applications of Zam-Buk will result in all roughness and inflammation disappearing, and the cracks being healed up with new healthy skin that will not roughen and break out.

For all cold-weather skin troubles, there is nothing to equal Zam-Buk. This unique balm possesses a marvellous combination of soothing, antiseptic, and healing qualities that can only be brought out by the scientific processes employed in the Zam-Buk Company's laboratory.

A RAILWAY PORTER'S PILES.

The Tormenting Itch Ended by Zam-Buk.

Mr. A. Sturch, Binton, Stratford-on-Avon.

MR. WM. A. STURCH, a railway porter at Binton Station, near Stratford-on-Avon, was moving some luggage one day when he espied a book left lying about the station. From this he learned what wonderful triumphs Zam-Buk was gaining over piles, and, being himself a terrible sufferer from this distressing complaint, Mr. Sturch took the advice of others, and let this magic balm cure him.

"I shall always bless the day I found that little book," the now cheerful porter told a Stratford pressman. "It was the means of Zam-Buk bringing me a happy release from pain, and changing my life from misery to happiness. I suffered dreadfully from the piles for many years. The itching, swelling, and terrible pain made me quite miserable. When the piles began to bleed I really thought I should be driven mad. Night after night I was kept awake, and it was only by superhuman efforts that I managed to keep at my work.

"It was while moving some heavy luggage at the station one day that my eye caught the book about Zam-Buk, which I read. I was so impressed by the many wonderful cures Zam-Buk had worked that I resolved to get a box on my way home. To my great delight Zam-Buk did the trick! It gave me immediate relief from the tormenting itch; never had I felt anything so soothing. Perseverance with this rich balm stopped the bleeding and lessened the group of piles, and I began to have some pleasure in life. All soreness was taken away, and the painful growths dwindled down, until they disappeared altogether."

ECZEMA : Zam-Buk is the Most Effective Treatment for this Fiery Disease.

ECZEMA is the commonest of skin diseases. The parts most frequently affected are behind the ears, on the head, at the mouth corners, the inner parts of the thigh, and the bends of the various joints. The disease generally begins in the form of slightly reddened patches, on which appear tiny watery heads that burst and lead to the formation of a small, thin crust of a bright red hue.

The mattery discharge, when thick and gummy, cakes and forms into unsightly scabs; then the inflammation is succeeded by itching. Wet eczema has this "mattering" as its chief feature. Dry eczema is known by red scaly patches, which are never moist though swollen.

Occasionally, the disease breaks out all over the body and limbs in tiny red pimples, which the friction of one's clothes only tends to make fiery and unpleasant.

Wonderfully soothing and efficacious is the treatment of eczema with Zam-Buk, which is daily curing more cases of this sort than of any other skin disease. The balm should be applied on a fresh piece of lint, night and morning, after a thorough cleansing with some germ-killing soap, preferably Zam-Buk Medicinal Soap, which has been specially invented for use upon the skin when injured or diseased. The burning, itching pain will be allayed, and perseverance with the treatment results in a new healthy skin taking the place of the scabs and scales.

Obstinate and even hereditary cases that are known to have resisted every other form of treatment, including doctors and infirmaries, have been cured once and for all by proper perseverance with Zam-Buk.

The patient will always do well, during the use of Zam-Buk, to abstain from all sloppy food, tea and coffee (in excess), pastry and other sweet stuffs, salt fish, salted meats, and pork. Eat as many fresh vegetables as possible, and brown bread, and drink plenty of water, mostly between meals.

CURED TO STOP CURED!

Proof that Zam-Buk Prevents Disease Returning.

"A NAIL in my right boot worked loose and pierced my foot," Mrs. S. A. Meyrick, of 17, Fifth Row, New Town, Ebbw Vale, Monmouth, told a Merthyr reporter. "A long jagged scratch was left, from which nasty black blood ran. The whole foot was inflamed and blistered. I applied poultices, and used dozens of ordinary ointments and salves, but got no relief.

"I laid on the couch seven weeks, completely prostrated with pain. I thought I should never walk again. A doctor told me my foot was poisoned so badly he feared it might prove fatal. Pains shot up from my toes to my eyeballs, and almost drove me mad, while blood and matter ran in streams from my foot, which was just like raw meat.

"When lying groaning on the couch one day, a friend strongly urged me to try Zam-Buk. My son at once sent for a box, and I stopped the doctor's treatment. The first applications of Zam-Buk eased my pain marvellously. So I persevered with its use. The poison was drawn from my foot, the swelling went down, and the maddening irritation stopped. A new healthy skin then grew, and my foot got strong enough to again bear my weight. Now I walk every day to town and back, and do not feel the slightest pain or discomfort."

Writing now, two years later, Mrs. Meyrick says: "I am glad to state that my foot has never troubled me since Zam-Buk healed it so wonderfully."

A WONDERFUL ZAM-BUK RECORD AT HUDDERSFIELD.

Bad Legs, Scalded Foot, Poisoned Sore, Cuts & Bruises, all quite Healed.

Mr. & Mrs. Madden & Family, of Huddersfield, who have proved Zam-Buk's wonderful healing power

ZAM-BUK has scored a series of wonderful triumphs in the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Madden, 6, Green Street, Huddersfield. Father, mother, and practically all their seven children—Lilian (15), Doris (14), Stephanie (12), John Edward (10), Reginald (7), Leonard (5), and Mona (1)—have derived marked benefit from this wonderful healer. Mr. Madden, an iron-turner, chatting with a pressman, said:—

“I knocked the fleshy part of my leg against the edge of a valve-casting three years ago. The skin was torn, and in a few days the raw flesh started festering. An ulcer formed, while the flesh all round got red-raw with inflammation. The pain was simply terrible.

“The ulcer spread and ate deeply into the flesh. I got so lame that I had to stay at home. I thought I should never walk again, and my mates thought so, too. For two months the doctor visited me regularly, but his treatment didn't bring any improvement.

“Then I started with Zam-Buk, and it is entirely to this rare balm that I owe my wonderful recovery. Zam-Buk eased my pain splendidly, taking away all the biting and smarting sensation. It reduced the inflammation and swelling, too, and all the corruption was gradually drawn from my leg. The big, deep ulcer then filled up with healthy flesh, over which Zam-Buk grew new skin. I returned to work with my leg sound and healthy again.”

Mrs. Madden then told the reporter that a sore suddenly appeared on her left leg. “A chemist said it would be a life-long trouble. I was quite frightened, particularly as the ulcer got rapidly bigger and more inflamed and painful. The skin turned quite black, too. My husband persuaded me to try Zam-Buk, and instead of having my leg bad all my life, the ulcer was soothed, cleansed, and healed in a very short time.

“Leonard (5) was sitting near the fire waiting for his bath when some stew boiled over on to his foot. The scalded parts were smeared with Zam-Buk, which soon soothed the child's pain and covered the raw flesh with nice cool skin.

"The day Doris (14) started work, a brass eyelet from her shoe worked through her stocking and scratched a nasty sore on her foot. Doris was in great pain, and we were afraid of blood-poison. Zam-Buk, however, cleansed the place and healed it beautifully.

"The children are always knocking, bruising, or cutting themselves, and I don't know what I should do without Zam-Buk, which I always keep ready on a handy shelf."

Tottenham Child's Sores Spread from Neck to Hips.

A SEVERE case of a child's eczema, which caused much anxiety to the parents, has been perfectly cured by Zam-Buk in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Hamlin, 44, Beaconsfield Road, Tottenham. Mr. Hamlin, who is a constable in the N. Division of the Metropolitan Police Force, said to a reporter:—

"Pimples, which turned to big inflamed blotches, broke out on our son Sidney's neck, and spread over his back down to his hips. Sidney scratched these itchy places, and he was soon in a terrible state. The eczema, as we learned the boy was suffering from, destroyed his skin and burned into his flesh. We really didn't know what to do for him, as cheap ointments, salves, and lotions failed to touch the eczema at all. When we were nearly despairing of finding a cure, however, Zam-Buk came to our aid.

"What we had read about Zam-Buk's wonderful soothing and healing power we fully proved in Sidney's case. The rich balm eased his severe itching and burning as nothing had ever done, and he exclaimed 'Zam-Buk is nice.' We kept up the Zam-Buk treatment after throwing aside common ointments, and were delighted to find Sidney's sores gradually dying away. The scabs dried up and fell off, and all the bad places were covered with new healthy skin. Zam-Buk thus completely cured our child where everything else had failed. Sidney's skin is as clear and healthy to-day as anyone could wish, thanks alone to this magic Zam-Buk."

SENSATIONAL WELSH CURE.

Doctors & Nurses Say Never Saw Such Awful Legs.

Mrs. R. Morris, Pontypool.

ZAM-BUK and Mrs. Richard Morris are the centres of interest in a real "nine days' wonder" in the Pontypool district of South Wales. Mrs. Morris, who lives at 193, Dubble Bailey, Cwmyniscoy, a few miles from Pontypool (Clarence-street), gave to an inquiring Mertthyr Express reporter full particulars of her sensational experiences.

"To begin with," Mrs. Morris explained, "I am turned 70, and as you can see I am as quick and lively on my feet as any young woman. But I wasn't always like this, for both my legs were diseased for 30 years. I don't know what started the disease, but when I first saw a doctor he said my legs were full of worms. The limbs were covered with ulcers, which discharged blood and matter day and night. They were like raw meat, and swollen to an enormous size. I'm sure that nobody ever endured torture worse than mine, for my legs burned and itched until I was nearly driven mad.

"I went into the Newport Hospital, where both doctors and nurses said they had never seen such awful legs. There were holes in them big enough to hold a fair-sized potato. The hospital doctors said I should have to be very careful or one of my legs would have to be cut off to save my life. For several months I stayed in the hospital, receiving the best attention, but was then discharged as incurable.

"For years, however, I went to the hospital as out-patient, attending whenever I could, though for months at a time I was lying helpless on the couch, nursed by my children. Besides the hospital treatment I wasted pounds on common ointments, but they absolutely did nothing to cure the ulcers.

"I was the pity of Pontypool, my birthplace, where everybody did their best to help me. Until a year ago neither leg had stopped discharging for over 30 years, and there didn't seem the faintest hope of a cure.

"But about that time my daughter came over from Yorkshire, and when she saw me lying helpless and in such awful pain, she at once went into Pontypool and bought me a supply of Zam-Buk, which she had great faith in. I can't properly tell you what wonderful things this Zam-Buk did for me, how it eased all my pain, stopped the discharge from the ulcers, and then healed them up with new skin. Zam-Buk acted like magic, and though it naturally took time to heal such awful legs as mine, this rare balm worked a truly marvellous change.

"I threw away the sticks I had used for walking with, and, as the huge ulcers gradually closed up, my legs got strong enough to support my body, and neighbours were astonished to see me getting about again. To-day, with my legs long since healed thoroughly by Zam-Buk with beautiful new skin, I walk regularly into Pontypool, where people regard me with wonder."

ZAM-BUK FOR RHEUMATISM.—The penetrating, soothing qualities of Zam-Buk have been proved again and again. Pain, even when deep-seated, flies before the powerful influence of the balm as it soaks into skin, flesh, and muscle. Zam-Buk forms a particularly good embrocation for muscular rheumatism, lumbago, sciatica, and other affections of the fibrous tissues of the body. Zam-Buk should be freely and vigorously rubbed in for several minutes each night and morning, and the balm will be found to reduce any swelling which may be present, soothe the pain, and finally, to stimulate the muscles, that in future they will be better capable of resisting cold and damp.

After that the skin l places, and festering sores developed. For five months I couldn't do a stroke of w last I gave up the doctor's treatment and started with Zam-Buk. I soon got relief the awful pain, and all swelling and inflammation went down, too. I kept on us Zam-Buk until the four sore places were healed over with new skin. My hand is quite better now, and I am at work again, but always keep Zam-Buk handy."

FINGER BURNT, KNOCKED, & FROST-BITTEN.—

Mrs. E. Clark, "Kingswear," Shrubbery Avenue, Worcester, writes:—"My maid burnt her finger rather badly. Before it got better she knocked it, and the frost getting into the wound caused the finger to be very sore indeed. The girl was quite unable to do her work, and though she was treated by the doctor and chemist, the wound refused to heal. Zam-Buk, however, soothed the girl's pain and healed the finger splendidly with a new skin after only a few dressings. I was really surprised at Zam-Buk's action, and my maid is very grateful, too."

LEGS SCARRED BY FALL.—

While playing in the streets with a home-made car mounted on perambulator wheels, Edward Corness (13) slipped and scarred his legs badly. "A few days later," writes Mrs. M. Corness, 29, Springfield Street, Old Swan, Liverpool, "Edward's legs were covered with blisters, which burst into poisoned sores. His right leg was a mass of sores and scabs. The boy was in awful pain. Two months' hospital treatment failed, but Zam-Buk soothed Edward's pain, drew out the poison and inflammation, and soon healed his legs with strong new skin."

ONLY ONE
ZAM-BUK

There is only one Zam-Buk, and that is the highly refined preparation sold only in sealed packages bearing the trade mark "Zam-Buk" on the outside. It is prepared from certain valuable secret substances by a series of elaborate processes.

These scientific processes are necessary in order to reach the high healing standard and purity which make the reputation of Zam-Buk, and these processes are known only to the Zam-Buk Co., by whom they were discovered and perfected. Zam-Buk is thus entirely different from ordinary ointments—as different from them in composition as it is superior in the scientific method of its manufacture. Moreover, there is a known reliability in Zam-Buk, due to the extensive scale on which it is produced, which cheap and casually-made ointments cannot and do not have. A box of Zam-Buk retains its wholesomeness for any length of time, and, as it is guaranteed free from lard and all animal fat or other impurity, its strength never varies.

IS THE BEST
HEALER.

ECZEMA STARTED IN CUT PIMPLE.

Bristol Youth who was Shunned by Everyone.
Distressing Plight Ended by Wonderful Zam-Buk Cure.

Mr. W. H. Rudman, Bristol.

DISFIGURED by shocking sores, unable to wash or shave, tortured by a burning itch night and day, and—worst of all—shunned by his friends, Mr. W. H. Rudman's plight was indeed unenviable. Thanks to a splendid Zam-Buk cure, however, all his troubles have now vanished, and to-day his skin is spotless. Mr. Rudman, who lives at 10, Walpole Street, Eastville, Bristol, said to a local reporter:—

"Whilst shaving I cut the head off a pimple on my chin. The place itched and burned, and next day, to my dismay, a big rash spread all over my face. Little pimples also sprang up. I was positively ashamed of being seen, and dreaded going out. I was, in fact, such a sight that everybody shunned me, so I decided at last to stay at home. The itching and burning nearly sent me crazy, especially when the pimples burst and discharged hot matter. I couldn't shave or wash, and the growth of hair made the sores more difficult to deal with.

"The doctor said it would be a long job curing me. His ointments, blood-mixtures, etc., brought no improvement. The same disappointing results also followed the use of other ointments and cheap preparations.

"A workmate one day told me that he had just been cured of a complaint just like mine by Zam-Buk, and urged me to try this new balm. Though I had nearly lost all hope of a cure, I got some Zam-Buk, really to please my mate. In a few days Zam-Buk had made such a difference in my appearance that I felt I had found a real cure at last. What's more, the awful itching and smarting got much less troublesome, and the sores gradually stopped discharging.

"I persevered with Zam-Buk, which continued to give me great relief and cleared away the sores, which died off one after another—replaced by new healthy skin. All over my face this wonderful transformation took place, until there wasn't a trace of the torturing disease left. I now enjoy the luxuries of a comfortable wash and shave, and can go out anywhere. And it's all due to this wonderful Zam-Buk!"

CHILBLAINS.

The irritating pain and inconvenience of chilblains—whether on feet, ears, or fingers—can be avoided by the use of Zam-Buk. When the skin looks red, and itches and burns, gentle dressings with Zam-Buk soon mend matters by sinking through the skin and removing the cause of the irritation. When the chilblains have broken, Zam-Buk soothes away pain and inflammation, prevents ulceration, and quickly heals the sore places with new skin that will resist cold and frost.

COLDS & SORE THROAT.—

Zam-Buk will give ease wherever there is soreness, irritation, and inflammation. In cases of sore throat it is particularly effective when rubbed on the sides of the throat as near the seat of the pain as possible. Rubbing Zam-Buk well into the skin of the chest, throat, and back, is most beneficial treatment for a cold, "tightness" of the chest, and difficulty in breathing. The rare herbal oils and juices of the balm soak at once into the tissues, and the essences which are liberated by the act of rubbing are taken through the mouth and nostrils into the bronchial tubes, upon which they have a wonderful soothing and agreeable effect. Mothers who fly to Zam-Buk as soon as the children complain of sore throat, will be amply repaid for their foresight,

A MINERS' DELEGATE & PILES.

Zam-Buk Cures His Agonising Complaint.

A MINERS' Delegate, Sunday School Superintendent, and Local Preacher, Mr. John Harrison, of 17, Causey Row, Marley Hill, Swalwell, Newcastle-on-Tyne, tells of an experience with Zam-Buk which is conclusive proof of the superior powers of this famous balm. In fact, it is sheer gratitude for the complete way in which Zam-Buk cured his wretched piles that induced Mr. Harrison to open his lips to a reporter.

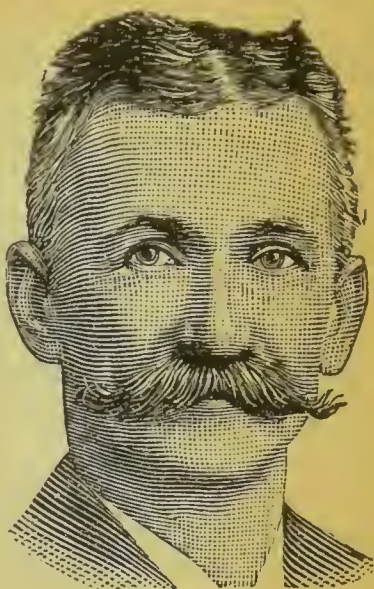

Besides acting as the Delegate of the local Andrew House Colliery, Mr. Harrison is Superintendent of the Causey United Methodist Sunday School, and does good service as a Local Preacher.

"I suffered from protruding piles for over seven years," stated the miners' official. "Working in wet seams started the piles. The protrusions, besides being very painful, used to come down and discharge badly. At night, too, as soon as I got warm in bed, they started to itch, and for hours the irritation prevented me getting any sleep.

"I lost many a week's work through the piles, which got worse every year. When they first started a doctor advised me to have them cut, but I refused to face the operation. Afterwards I spent pound after pound on ointments, salves, and remedies of every description, but I couldn't even get relief, and there was never any suggestion of a cure.

"While reading my paper a short time back, I noticed the case of another miner who had suffered just as I was doing, and who had been completely cured by Zam-Buk. 'There'll be no harm in trying this new balm, anyway,' I thought. So I got a box of Zam-Buk. In less than a week I felt distinctly better. Zam-Buk was soothing away the itching and pain, and the piles were discharging less.

"This encouraged me to persevere with Zam-Buk, which I saw had nothing in common with ordinary ointments. Zam-Buk eventually stopped all discharge and irritation, and rid me of the piles and their attendant misery. Now I go to bed and sleep splendidly, I can walk about in perfect comfort, and I have no more broken time, all thanks to Zam-Buk, which I thoroughly and conscientiously recommend."

Mr. J. Harrison,
Marley Hill, Newcastle-on-Tyne.

POISONED BY RUSTY NAIL.

House-Cleaning Perils averted by Zam-Buk.

"WHILE cleaning a room out, I caught both thumbs on a rusty nail in the floor," writes Mrs. M. A. West, of 6, Stanley Street, Zion Road, Bedminster, Bristol. "The skin was torn, and the rust set up blood-poisoning. Both thumbs festered badly, proud flesh appeared, and lumps came in my arm-pits. The pain made me feel quite sick, and prevented me getting rest and sleep. I couldn't, of course, do any work. After trying in vain many cheap ointments, I was persuaded to use Zam-Buk, which gave me great relief. I persevered with Zam-Buk, and each time I took the bandages from my thumbs the proud flesh came away. The sores stopped festering, and gradually healed up, being covered by Zam-Buk with new skin. Both my thumbs are quite better now, and never cause me any trouble at all."

A 1/1½, 2/9, or 4/6 box of Zam-Buk is the Housewife's Best Insurance all the year round. Zam-Buk is always handy to soothe away the pain of a cut, bruise, knock, or sprain, and to guard a wound from infection by dirt and disease-germs. Get a box to-day.

IS YOUR SKIN POISONED?

Zam-Buk is the Great Germ-Destroying Balm.

THOSE poisonous germs in the skin which are at the root of so many skin troubles must be destroyed by Zam-Buk before the diseased part can be made healthy and whole. Even simple roughness of the skin, cracks on the hands, pimples on the face and chin, or the tiniest cut or scratch, are known to lead to such greivous complaints as fiery eczema, ulcers, and blood-poison, because disease-germs will invade the skin-tissues through the smallest abrasion.

Zam-Buk is the world's great purifying balm, and is always effective in getting rid of the poisoned condition. When Zam-Buk is smeared on the skin, the balm's pure and powerful germ-destroying extracts are at once sucked through the pores into the tissues, which are cleared of all poisonous impurities.

Zam-Buk does more than purify and defend a sore against germ-attack. It prevents inflammation, wards off the danger of blood-poisoning, and heals quickly and painlessly.

In cases where, through neglect, the germs have got hold and set up eczema, ulceration, festering, or ringworm, Zam-Buk will penetrate to the root of the trouble, no matter how deep-seated, destroy and expel the poison, exterminate the disease, and gradually build up sound tissue.

SPLINTER IN THE THUMB.—Nurse M. A. Carr, 1, Manor View, Burrell Row, Beckenham, Kent, writes:—"A splinter in my thumb set up blood-poison. I couldn't sleep for shooting pains right up my arm, and I was prevented from doing any work for weeks. I had the thumb lanced five times, and used no end of poultices without the poisoned wound showing any signs of healing up. Then I was advised to try Zam-Buk, and was very much surprised at the way this new balm soothed my pain. My thumb gradually discharged all the corruption, and was then healed by Zam-Buk very quickly."

RINGWORM & INFLAMED SORES.

Splendid Double Triumph for Magic Zam-Buk.

TWICE has Zam-Buk rescued Sylvia May Wright from disfiguring skin-disease that had defied hospitals, doctors, and common ointments. Read what the mother, Mrs. M. Wright, of 6, Chepstow Tavern Mews, Westbourne Grove, London, W., said to a reporter:—

"Sylvia (7) caught ringworm from another girl at school, and was ordered away until better. There was a small scurvy patch on the child's head, which spread and caused the hair to fall away. Finding the ringworm defying our own treatment, we took Sylvia to St. Mary's Hospital, Paddington. In spite of perseverance with their ointment, however, the inflamed sores continued spreading, and Sylvia was further than ever from a cure.

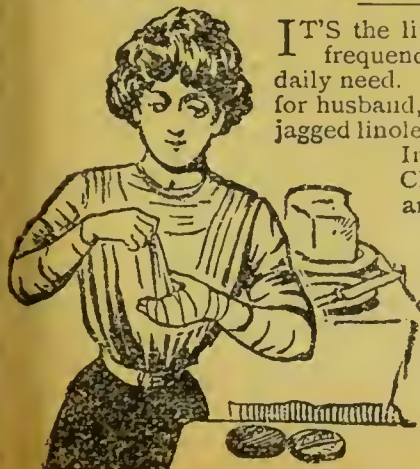

"Then I remembered having used Zam-Buk with great success for Sylvia's eczema some years ago. So I tried this balm again. Zam-Buk made such an early improvement in Sylvia's head that I regretted I hadn't thought about it sooner. The child was glad to have the soothing balm put on her itchy sores, which gradually died away. All inflammation was drawn out, and the scurfy-looking patches of ringworm gave place to nice new skin. We kept up the Zam-Buk treatment until Sylvia was quite cured, and returned to school after over six months' absence."

Answering the reporter's enquiry about Sylvia's eczema, Mrs. Wright said:—"When teething, Sylvia was troubled with inflamed sores round her ear and down one side of her face. Besides hospital and doctors' treatment, I tried all kinds of common ointments without success. Zam-Buk, however, soothed and comforted Sylvia, and finally cleared away the eczema, leaving the child with a splendid new skin."

Sylvia Wright, London, W.

HOUSEWIVES' CUTS & BRUISES.

IT'S the little everyday mishaps that occur with astonishing frequency in every house, which make healing Zam-Buk a daily need. There's more danger in the house than out of it—for husband, wife, maid, or children. There is the trip over the jagged linoleum and the torn carpet; and the slip on the stairs.

In the kitchen there is the risk of scalds and burns. Cleaning windows, hanging pictures, broken glass, and even the simple act of cutting a loaf—this is but a partial enumeration of simple household accidents that may occur any moment.

The moral is keep a box of Zam-Buk always at hand, and thus be ready to immediately dress any flesh wound or bruise with this soothing and antiseptic healer. When Zam-Buk is applied to a cut or sore, the balm destroys all disease-germs, and prevents the wound taking "bad ways." Every housewife should know, then, that a one-and-three-halfpenny or two-and-ninepenny box of Zam-Buk is one of the most profitable investments she can make.

Zam-Buk is the Money-Saving Healing Balm.

WEAKNESS CAUSED CRIPPLING ULCER

Bed-ridden Mother nearly Mad with Pain until Zam-Buk Soothed & Healed her Leg.

Mrs. M. McCurdie, Falkirk.

A HARMLESS-LOOKING spot on Mrs. M. McCurdie's ankle developed so rapidly that soon she was bed-ridden with a painful discharging ulcer, which Zam-Buk alone was able to soothe and heal. Mrs. McCurdie, who lives at 163, Gordon Street, Camelon, Falkirk, N.B., gave the following particulars of her case to a Falkirk Mail reporter:—

"A little red spot came on my leg, just above the ankle, about two years ago. The inflammation quickly spread, my foot and ankle swelled, and an eruption with a hard top came on the inflamed spot. This hard top fell off, and the sore began discharging. I was in such pain, and so badly crippled, that I was obliged to stay in bed. A doctor said weakness had caused the ulcer. He sent a nurse regularly to dress my ankle.

"The ulcer appeared to heal up, but to my dismay it again broke out worse than before. The doctor prescribed the same treatment as before. It didn't do the slightest good, however. I used to think I should go mad with the pain. My foot and ankle were a tremendous size, and there was a deep hole in the fleshy part just above the ankle. I lay in bed unable to sleep or rest, trying all kinds of home-made and other ointments, but they all failed miserably.

"It was my son who at length persuaded me to try Zam-Buk. He had heard of a wonderful Zam-Buk cure in a case worse even than mine. So I started to use Zam-Buk, and put everything else aside. The effect was astonishing! After bathing my ankle well I smeared the balm over the sore and inflamed places, and then bandaged them up. Zam-Buk gave me such relief that soon I fell into a refreshing sleep. This Zam-Buk treatment was regularly repeated, as I saw that the inflammation and swelling were going down.

"Zam-Buk thoroughly cleansed the ulcer before closing it up and covering the place with new healthy skin. I was again able to wear a boot and get about quite comfortably. I am very grateful for my wonderful cure, and my only regret is that I didn't use Zam-Buk earlier, and so have saved myself months of intense suffering."

"THE HERO OF THE GANGES."

MR. BERT SWAN, "The Hero of the Ganges," whose wrestling and other daring exploits with live alligators create such a sensation on the leading Variety stages, writes from "Askwood," 42, Church Lane, Tooting, London, S.W.:—"While wrestling with an alligator, nine feet long, at the Leeds Hippodrome, the animal broke loose and buried his big teeth in my left hand. In the excitement that prevailed the box of Zam-Buk in my dressing-room was forgotten, and I was taken in a motor to the Infirmary, where the wound was stitched up.

"In a subsequent performance the stitches gave way, and the wound burst open again, bleeding profusely. I was afraid I should have to cancel my engagements, but, thanks to Zam-Buk, this was not necessary. This magic balm soothed the pain and healed the wound with splendid new skin."

LEEDS CHILDREN'S ITCHY SORES.

Another Mother's Worries Ended by Wonderful Zam-Buk Cures.

ZAM-BUK has again demonstrated its unique power over skin-disease by curing four Leeds children of itching running sores. The parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. Horsfall, live at 19, Chapman Street, Beckett Street, Leeds, where the mother gave details of these wonderful Zam-Buk triumphs to a local reporter:—

"Four of our children—May (14), Christopher (11), Mary (11), and Frank (8)—were troubled with the eczema," said Mrs. Horsfall. "It started with small spots on their faces and heads. Being very itchy, the children rubbed these spots, and the skin broke into little running sores. May was so bad that she was sent home from work. Her sores kept drying up, only to start afresh every time she washed herself. Through rubbing her itchy face, May's fingers broke out, and she had four of them tied up at once.

"Christopher and Frank were both sent home from school, Christopher three times, and Mary had to be isolated. I can assure you I had my hands full with the four of them.

"Besides all kinds of cheap ointments and salves, which didn't do a scrap of good, the children had treatment from the Leeds Infirmary. Still they didn't get better, and I got quite worried about them. One day, however, May came home and said she had been hearing a lot about Zam-Buk, which she thought we ought to try. So I sent for a box of this new balm, and the first few dressings showed us what fine stuff it is.

"Zam-Buk's action was totally different from common ointments and salves, and the way it cleared off the sores amazed us. All the children liked Zam-Buk, too, because it soothed their itchy skin. One after the other they got clear of the eczema, Zam-Buk replacing the itchy sores with new healthy skin that shows no trace of the troublesome disease."

May, Christopher, Mary, and Frank Horsfall, Leeds.

If you have a piano you should have a copy of "His Majesty's March," the splendid piece composed by Mr. Arthur Workman for the proprietors of Zam-Buk, who will have pleasure in presenting a copy, free of cost, to every applicant who sends 1d. stamp to cover postage. This grand March is printed on full-sized paper, and is equal in every respect to a 2/- piece of music. Address applications to The Zam-Buk Co., Greek Street, Leeds, and mention "The Man with the Bandage" booklet when writing.

KEEP YOUR SKIN HEALTHY.

Zam-Buk Prevents Pimples, Blotches, & Eczema.

THOSE itching pimples, fiery rashes, and inflamed blotches on the face, which are so troublesome, are signs that the skin is burdened with impurities, and needs a "spring-clean" with Zam-Buk. During winter the blood does not circulate so freely as usual. The vitality of the skin gets lowered, and the pores, through which the body should get rid of its waste impurities, become stagnant and choked up with poisonous matter.

It is this bad matter forcing its way out that causes irritating and unsightly eruptions, which are not only distressing to the sensitive victim, but make strangers stare and your friends ashamed to be seen with you.

Zam-Buk's refined and penetrating medicinal juices get right to the bottom of the trouble. As a result of the secret combination of Zam-Buk's pure herbal ingredients, the balm is naturally absorbed through the tiny pores into the skin-tissues, which immediately feel the beneficial and searching effect of Zam-Buk's Medicinal properties.

The normal activity of the pores and glands is quickly restored. The accumulating poisons which cause the pimples and blotches are drawn out through the pores, and the skin is soon flexible again, and delightfully smooth and clear.

Zam-Buk not only thoroughly purifies the skin, but it soothes away all itching and irritation. Many a case of serious skin disease has begun in the rubbing or scratching of a little pimple or spot. Zam-Buk removes this danger because it is a powerful antiseptic, and destroys the germs that would get into broken pimples and set up eczema and blood-poison.

Daily dressings with Zam-Buk and the use of Zam-Buk Medicinal Soap in the toilet will ensure the permanent delight of a healthy skin and clear complexion.

BURNT HER ARM ON THE OVEN DOOR.

MISS H. BALDWIN, of 26, Farringdon Place, Southend-on-Sea, writes:—
"My mother burnt her arm severely on the oven door, which swung to while she was putting something in the oven. An inflamed blister rose, and though we tried several ointments and home-made remedies, the skin turned quite yellow. The limb was very painful and angry looking, and mother was very much afraid of blood-poison. Having heard a great deal about Zam-Buk we tried it, and found it quickly relieved pain and drew the inflammation and soreness from the burnt place. Perseverance with Zam-Buk cleared away the hard, dry scab and healed mother's arm with a splendid new skin."

COVERED WITH INFLAMED RASH.

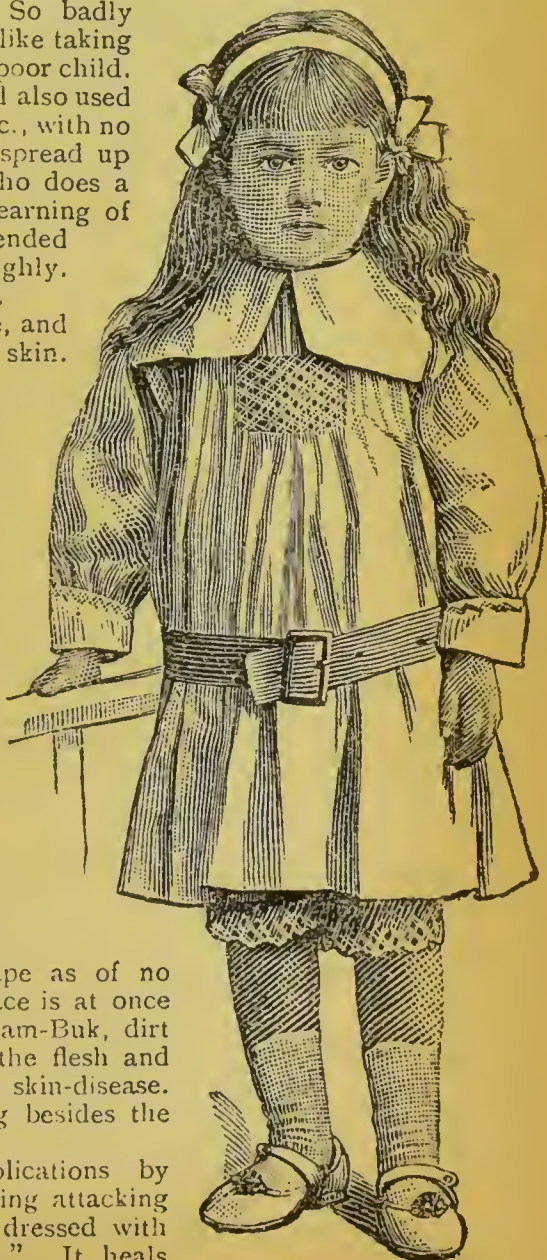

Zam-Buk Rescues a School-Girl from Torturing Skin-Itch.

MABEL KNIGHT, the six-years-old child of Mr. and Mrs. M. Knight, 9, The Mount, Taunton, has just been rescued by Zam-Buk from skin torture which caused her parents great anxiety. To the Taunton Courier reporter, Mrs. Knight said :—

"A swelling like a heat-lump first came on Mabel's cheek. At the same time a rash also broke out all over the child's face, and on the backs of her legs as well. Mabel couldn't keep her fingers from the itchy inflamed skin, and I had to wrap her legs in bandages. So badly disfigured was her face that I didn't like taking her out—everybody stared so at the poor child.

"I took Mabel to the hospital, and also used all kinds of ointments and lotions, etc., with no good result. Instead, the eczema spread up Mabel's body. One day, a lady who does a lot of visiting in this district, on learning of Mabel's case, at once recommended Zam-Buk, of which she spoke very highly. My aunt, too, also advised this balm.

"So I got some Zam-Buk at once, and smeared it all over Mabel's itchy skin. The rich balm soothed the child very much, and after a few dressings she stopped complaining of the itching, and didn't scratch herself so much. The rash gradually disappeared as I kept on using Zam-Buk, and the heat was drawn from Mabel's skin. Her legs and body were cleared first, and then the disfiguring outbreaks were removed from her face, leaving the skin clear and cool. Mabel is quite cured now, thanks only to Zam-Buk."

ACCIDENTS AT WORK.

EVERY worker needs Zam-Buk, the healing balm that is soothing and antiseptic. It's folly to pass over a cut, bruise, or scrape as of no consequence. Unless the sore place is at once cleansed and smeared over with Zam-Buk, dirt and poisonous germs will get into the flesh and set up festering, blood-poison, or skin-disease. This may mean months of suffering besides the loss of wages that few can afford.

Zam-Buk prevents these complications by keeping a wound clean and destroying attacking disease-germs. The injury that is dressed with Zam-Buk cannot take "bad ways." It heals quickly, painlessly, and cleanly.

POISONED LEG & FESTERED HAND.

Husband & Wife Cured at Sowerby Bridge.

Mr. J. Hoyle, Sowerby Bridge.

A SPLENDID double triumph for Zam-Buk's magic healing has been achieved in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Hoyle, at 4, Spring Terrace, Norland, Sowerby Bridge, Yorks., both husband and wife having been rescued from crippling sores. In conversation with a reporter, Mrs. Hoyle said:—

"I was in bed, unconscious, after a serious illness. Hot-water bottles were placed on my legs to restore warmth. When I recovered consciousness I found both limbs scorched, the left leg being particularly bad. A portion of my stocking had stuck to the raw skin, and the dye set up blood-poison. An ugly ulcer developed and spread up the leg. The pain was something awful. My leg got so hard and stiff that I couldn't bend it or use it in any way. The doctor attended me a long time, but the ulcer kept spreading, and as there seemed no hope of the leg healing up the doctor said he'd have to strip it.

"I didn't like the idea of any operation, however, so having heard a lot about Zam-Buk, I got a box. My word, but Zam-Buk did make a difference! It soothed the burning and throbbing as nothing else had done. I soon saw, too, that this magic balm was drawing away the poison and lessening the ulcer, which lost its inflammation and closed up splendidly. Zam-Buk finally healed my leg with new, healthy skin, and I have not had any trouble with it since."

Mr. Hoyle then told the reporter that while doing his work at an iron foundry he got his right middle finger scalded with boiling metal. "Instead of healing," he said, "the sore festered, and, to my dismay, other running sores broke out all over my hands and arms. I was quite unfit for work, and was in great pain for many a month.

"As the doctor wasn't doing me any good I started with Zam-Buk, which soon eased the pain and started healing my sores. One by one, as Zam-Buk healed the sores with new skin, the bandages were thrown off my hands and arms. It was surprising the way this magic healer cleared away the corruption and cleansed my skin. To my great delight the last bandage was thrown away, and I returned to work with my hands and arms covered with healthy skin again.

"After our wonderful experiences with Zam-Buk, we are never without a box in the house. I always keep Zam-Buk handy at the foundry, too. I often get little cuts and burns, and nothing heals them so quickly and cleanly as Zam-Buk."

Mrs. J. Hoyle, Sowerby Bridge.

PIMPLES & BLACKHEADS.—Miss Minnie Lewis, Sunnycote, Woodchester, Glos., writes:—"For seven years I was never free from pimples and blackheads. I have enlarged pores, and these got choked up, causing little festering pimples to appear. My face was a burning glow and the skin itched frightfully. Nothing but Zam-Buk was able to relieve the burning itch and completely rid me of both pimples and blackheads. My skin is now perfectly clear, and in as healthy a state as anyone could wish. I feel deeply grateful to Zam-Buk."

BROKEN DOWN BY PILES.

Zam-Buk Stops Worker's Martyrdom from Pain & Itching.

THOUGH still a young man, Mr. Thomas Cunningham suffered such martyrdom from itching piles that he describes himself as being "entirely broken down." His restoration to health and happiness is solely due to a wonderful Zam-Buk cure, as Mr. Cunningham, who lives at 3, Double Row, Marecroft, Worksop, related to a Worksop Guardian reporter.

"Three years ago," he said, "I was tunnelling near Ashby-de-la-Zouch, and often had to work up to my waist in water. As a result I got piles, which played havoc with me. Besides being in terrible pain, there were times when I couldn't even walk, and I lost a lot of work. For over two years I was never really free from a torturing itch.

"In addition to doctors' treatment, I tried ointments, salves, lotions, and physic until I got thoroughly disheartened. I am well-known round this district, where I have lived twenty-two years, and everybody sympathised with me. But the things friends recommended didn't do me any good until a mate told me how Zam-Buk had cured his piles, and persuaded me to try this balm.

"Zam-Buk was instantly a success in my severe case. It soothed the pain and itching in surprising fashion, considering how all ordinary ointments had failed. The growth of piles was gradually lessened as I persevered with Zam-Buk, and I felt happier and better altogether. I realised that I was getting rid of the complaint that had burdened me so long, and it was Zam-Buk alone that was doing it.

"The piles finally stopped troubling me in any way, but I waited before I dared consider myself cured. As, however, I have now been entirely free from pain and inconvenience for some time, I feel convinced that Zam-Buk has worked a complete and wonderful cure. We are never without Zam-Buk in our home now," concluded Mr. Cunningham, as he produced from the cupboard the well-known green box.

Mr. T. Cunningham,

FACE POISONED BY RUSTY RAZOR.

Only Zam-Buk Could Heal His Terrible Sores.

MR. P. CLEARY JOHN, Caherea, Darragh, Ennis, Co. Clare, writes:—"I got a terribly sore face through shaving with a razor spotted with rust. Red patches first appeared on my skin, which later filled with pimples. These poisoned pimples then burst and discharged a lot of matter. Patches of the skin peeled off, leaving my face quite raw. The awful itching nearly sent me mad. I was off work nearly a year.

"Four doctors each gave my complaint a different name. None of them did me any good, however, so I went to the County Infirmary. Still my face remained in a dreadful state. In despair I tried cheap ointments, until I had at least sixty empty boxes; and I hadn't got a pennyworth of benefit from the lot.

"A friend at last persuaded me to try Zam-Buk. Never shall I forget the wonderful relief Zam-Buk brought! It soothed the pain, which was then nearly driving me frantic, and drew out the poison and burning inflammation. After months of pain and restlessness I slept soundly with the cooling Zam-Buk on my face. The sores gradually dried up as I kept on using Zam-Buk, and the hard tops softened and peeled away, new healthy skin growing in their place.

"All the painful disfiguring sores have now been removed by Zam-Buk, and my skin is cool and healthy. Zam-Buk must be a really wonderful skin-balm to cure such a terrible case as mine."

WHEN BABY FALLS.

Soothing Zam-Buk for Bruised & Tender Skin.

ZAM-BUK is indispensable to every home, and especially where there are children who are continually "in the wars." The bruised forehead, the grazed knee, the trapped finger, the cut hand, the nasty burn or scald—all these are best treated with Zam-Buk, which is so pure, refined, and healing for all kinds of injuries caused by children's falls.

The youngsters like Zam-Buk because it is so soothing. Besides stopping pain, Zam-Buk ensures that a wound will heal in a clean and healthy manner. If the little one is suffering from chafing or irritating skin or scalp trouble, comforting relief will follow the first dressing with Zam-Buk. As the treatment is continued, the disease is drawn out, and the sores dry up and fall away, leaving behind the beautiful new skin which Zam-Buk grows.

The mother who always keeps a box of Zam-Buk handy in the house saves herself much worry and her children a lot of suffering.

POISONED FOOT.—Mr. Albert E. Birch, a foundry-worker, of 42, Hazel Street, Blackburn, writes:—"In the boiler shop an iron plate fell on my foot, gouging the nail clean out of the big toe and leaving a nasty wound. Besides using common ointments I went to the Infirmary, but after two months' my foot was festering worse than ever. I was then lucky enough to hear of Zam-Buk, which soon relieved the throbbing pain, and healed the wound splendidly."

EAR TORN BY RUSTY SPIKE.—Mrs. E. Burrows, 33, Lichfield Street, Rose Hill, Pemberton, Wigan, writes:—"Vera, our five-years-old child, fell off the garden wall. A projecting spike tore her ear and left some rust under the skin. The sore place festered, and for more than three months Vera was in great pain. Cheap ointments and home-made remedies of all kinds failed to do any good, but Zam-Buk soothed Vera's pain, stopped the festering, and healed the child's ear with a beautiful new skin."

THE CRIPPLES' FRIEND.—The Rev. E. G. Hexall, Governor of "Bethany" Cripples' Home, Kinver, Staffs., writes:—"In the Home of 'Bethany' we have 34 crippled and deformed boys, most of whom suffer from running sores and wounds, and require constant attention and care. We find Zam-Buk of great value in soothing and healing the boys' sores. Every case in which Zam-Buk has been used has turned out splendidly. Zam-Buk has never yet failed. For burns and scalds Zam-Buk has been freely used, and the boys greatly appreciate its soothing and healing powers. I myself had the misfortune to spill a kettle of boiling water over my foot. Nothing proved of any help until I used Zam-Buk, which completely healed my sore foot."

MATTERY PIMPLES ON HIS LEG.—Mr. E. Lovatt, Cotton-Piecer, 12, Springs Street, Middleton, nr. Manchester, writes:—"Mattery pimples broke out all over my leg. They started like little pin scratches, which got inflamed and then broke into sores. The sores kept spreading, and try as I would I couldn't get rid of them. Acting on the advice of a chum I tried Zam-Buk, which, besides being very soothing, soon began to clear the eruptions away. I am entirely free from irritation now, and my leg is as healthy and well as possible, thanks only to Zam-Buk."

SCALY SORES ON FACE.—Miss Beatrice M. Howell, 2, Connaught Place, Kingsbridge, S. Devon, writes:—"From my childhood's days my face was never free from scaly sores. The outbreaks started with highly inflamed pimples, which broke, discharged matter, and then scabbed over. Year after year I was troubled with these painful and disfiguring eruptions, which later on spread to my arms, from elbows to shoulders. Common ointments and salves never did the slightest good. Zam-Buk, however, worked an amazing cure! The eruptions that had troubled me all my life yielded to this magic balm, which was wonderfully soothing, too. My face and arms are now spotless, with the skin as healthy as anyone could wish."

BEWARE OF ALL WORTHLESS IMITATIONS.

SCALDED FEET QUICKLY HEALED.

Keep Zam-Buk Handy in the Kitchen.

"WHILE preparing dinner one day," writes Miss L. Cunningham, of Albion Street, Newmarket, "my sleeve caught a saucepan handle and upset a panful of boiling liquid over both feet. For weeks I was in great pain and unable to work, the raw flesh being awfully sore to the slightest touch. I had ointments of all kinds, but got no good from any of them. In fact, some of these cheap preparations, I am sure, made my feet more painful. Zam-Buk was the only thing to do me any good. It took all the soreness away, cleansed and cooled the inflamed and burning places, and healed both feet beautifully. There's nothing to equal Zam-Buk for quick healing."

Accidents in the kitchen are so numerous that blood-poisoning is a daily peril to those engaged in housework. Every domestic and housewife, therefore, should always keep a box of Zam-Buk handy—ready for cuts, burns, and scalds. Zam-Buk quickly subdues the pain and inflammation; and being a powerful antiseptic it also thoroughly destroys all poisonous germs that might otherwise give rise to festering and blood-poisoning; and, thirdly, it heals perfectly by growing healthy new skin.

BLOTCHES THAT TURNED TO SCABBY SORES.

Scout Leader's Hereditary Disease Banished by Zam-Buk.

ZAM-BUK has achieved a signal triumph in the home of the Masseys at 13, Mossley Road, Heyrod, Stalybridge, where the son's hereditary eczema has been completely wiped out. Albert Massey is a cotton spinner, who in his spare time acts as Patrol Leader of the Heyrod St. Paul's Scouts. Chatting with a reporter, Albert's mother said:—

"Eczema is a family complaint with us. My father suffered from it; I inherited the disease; and Albert caught it from his brother. Albert's was the most severe case. The eczema came on his face, neck, and arms in big red scurfy blotches. The itching was so bad Albert scratched the skin into running sores and scabs. His face was such an awful sight he was ashamed to be seen.

"For three years Albert had the eczema, and for a whole year he was under doctor's treatment. Part of the time the boy couldn't work. Besides the doctor's remedies Albert tried lots of ointments, salves, etc., without any good result. In fact, nothing proved of any use but Zam-Buk.

"Zam-Buk soothed my son's itchy skin as no mere ointment had ever done. The sores stopped running, too, as he persevered with the balm, and the scabs when dry crumbled away. We then saw the new healthy skin Zam-Buk had gradually grown on Albert's face, neck, and arms. It was really surprising to watch the way Zam-Buk dealt with the disease, and Albert was delighted to have his skin so clear and healthy again. He is quite free from the eczema now. Albert always carries Zam-Buk with him in his Scout's first-aid box, and we are never without it in the house."

Mr. A. Massey, Stalybridge.

ZAM-BUK MEDICINAL & TOILET SOAP.

The New Safeguard Against Skin Disease.

ZAM-BUK Medicinal and Toilet Soap is a production which is daily proving invaluable to those who possess tender, troublesome skins, or who are in the grip of chronic skin disease.

It is because of its fulfilling the long-felt want of a soap, not only with unique medicinal value, but with a freedom from the harmful skin-irritating properties of ordinary soaps, that Zam-Buk Medicinal and Toilet Soap comes as a blessing and a boon to all—to the housewife, whose many duties constantly soil and roughen her hands—to the daughter, jealous of her complexion—to the bread-winner, begrimed with smoke and dust—and to the little baby, blessed with a delicate and sensitive skin.

Zam-Buk Medicinal Soap is the result of a long research, conducted with the object of producing a soap which should at once be medicinally helpful to the human skin and far superior to all other soaps in perfect manufacture from materials of the highest standard of purity and refinement.

Zam-Buk Medicinal Soap puts the skin in a state strong enough to resist all the evils of exposure to weather and germ attack.

Sold by all chemists at 1/- per tablet, or 2/9 per dainty box containing 3 tablets; or post free for same prices direct from the Zam-Buk Co., 45, Cow Cross Street, London, E.C.

SENTENCED TO LIFE-LONG MISERY.

A Tailoress Idle for Years.

Zam-Buk Heals Ulcers which Doctors Pronounced
"Incurable."

Mrs. A. Tanner, Bristol.

A RECENT experience of Mrs. A. Tanner provides further strong proof that "It's never too late for Zam-Buk." Deprived of her means of livelihood by shocking leg ulcers, and sentenced by doctors to life-long misery, Mrs. Tanner has been brought successfully through a trying crisis solely by Zam-Buk's wonderful healing. At her home, Stone Close, Frampton Cotterell, near Bristol, Mrs. Tanner said to a Bristol reporter:—

"For years my right leg was very troublesome. Two years ago it swelled badly, and five ulcers broke out round the ankle and shin. I could not wear either boot or shoe; in fact, I daren't put my foot to the ground. The pain was really awful, whilst the itching nearly sent me mad. I often got so worked up that I declare I'd willingly lose my leg to get relief. My sewing-machine, with which I usually earn a good wage, lay idle for years.

"The ulcers grew in spite of all my care. Watery matter ran from them in such quantities as to soak through the bandages and fill my stockings, which I was obliged to change three or four times a day. Common ointments failed completely, whilst the treatment of four doctors and a nurse had no better effect. The doctors said the ulcers were quite incurable. In despair I returned again to cheap ointments and lotions, only to be disappointed once more.

"Then I providentially came across a Zam-Buk 'Green Book,' which showed me what wonderful cures Zam-Buk was daily working in cases quite as bad as mine. 'I'll try this Zam-Buk,' I said, so sent for a box. That was the best investment I ever made. Zam-Buk eased my awful pain, and soon began to clear the corruption from the ulcers. As the discharge got less the inflammation and swelling died away, too, and my leg got easier every day. Zam-Buk's soothing effect was something remarkable, and I can tell you I thoroughly appreciated the relief from the burning and itching sensations. It was simply a case of steady perseverance with Zam-Buk, which I could see was going to heal the leg.

"One after another the ulcers dried up, the flesh knitted together, and Zam-Buk covered the raw places with new skin. I then realised that Zam-Buk had healed sores which the doctors had said were incurable, and I felt I must let other poor sufferers know of my wonderful experience. I am now quite free from pain and itching, my leg is strong and healthy, and I am working my machine again. Zam-Buk has been a real blessing to me!"

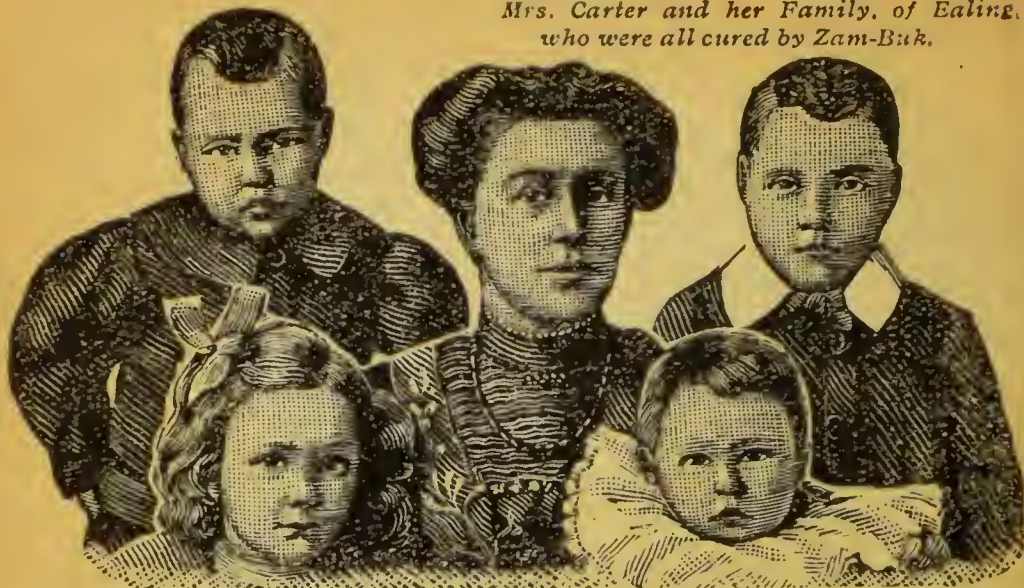

A thousand cares are taken in the manufacture of Zam-Buk. At the Proprietors' own private laboratory each of the herbal extracts, when ready, is put through delicate and important tests; and then, with the aid of costly machinery, the ingredients are balanced and joined together by a certain scientific process. The final result is not a mere ointment, but a rare medicinal balm, the reliability and effectiveness of which is ensured by the large scale on which it is manufactured. Zam-Buk is the truly natural and ideal substance that has long been wanted for the skin.

ANOTHER GRAND FAMILY CURE.

Mother's Piles & Children's Ringworms.

Mrs. Carter and her Family, of Ealing, who were all cured by Zam-Buk.

A GAIN has Zam-Buk demonstrated its excellence as a family remedy, by curing Mrs. G. Carter and her four children of piles and skin complaints. The following remarkable details were given to a reporter by Mrs. Carter at her home, 23, Western Road, Ealing, London, W.

"I had my four children, William (8), Dorothy (7), Richard (5), and Percy (3), home a whole year with ringworm. Their heads were in a shocking state, the sores being as big as five-shilling-pieces. The ringworms itched so much that the children scratched until they bled, and I had finally to tie their hands down.

"On the advice of the School Medical Authorities I had all the children's heads put under X-Rays treatment. In addition, I tried every ointment ordered and advised. No good resulted, however, and at last the Medical Authorities said it would take at least two years to cure such shocking cases.

"I was at my wits' end for a remedy, until I got Zam-Buk, which acted like magic. Besides soothing the children's awful itching, Zam-Buk removed the scurf-like covering piece by piece, and a clean, clear skin showed underneath. In less than three months from starting with Zam-Buk all the children's heads were free from ringworms, and the hair was growing again.

THE SCHOOL AUTHORITIES WERE SURPRISED at such a quick and complete cure, and I assured them that the credit belonged entirely to Zam-Buk.

"After my eldest boy was born I suffered a lot from piles. They accumulated like grapes, and were very painful, bleeding occasionally. I could scarcely bear to sit down, and often hardly knew where to put myself for ease. The doctor, finding his ointments and other remedies useless, said it was no use hoping for a cure unless I underwent an operation.

"I decided to try Zam-Buk first, however, and it was a blessing I did. Zam-Buk was beautifully soothing; in addition, this rare balm gradually lessened the growth of piles until they disappeared altogether, and have not returned."
